not updated for years. Had it been regularly updated, we would have gained exposure to cutting-edge technologies in our course curriculum. I am in touch with students belonging to JUT. I am really happy with their syllabus which is in line with the industry requirements. The T&P department has been taking great endeavours from the 1st semester itself to ensure worthy placements for the students. I would like the students to participate in coding contests and hackathons even if they are not very proficient in programming. They can discuss about the questions after the contest with their peers or faculties. Once they start developing their problem-solving skills, they will feel elated. Students should also try to communicate

effectively and articulate well. Competitions such as debates and Group Discussions should be organised. They should be given developmental tasks, such as those of web development, data analytics, etc. which should actually be used by the college. For example, if the present form has been designed by a student, it is good. However, the small details which could be corrected in this form, should be highlighted before the student in a constructive way, so that the present form may be enhanced. Constructive feedback is the ultimate key to nurture talented brains. Aptitude and reasoning assessments may be conducted once a month with strict timer per question to help the students cope up with stringent requirements teaching faculties threaten us they use languages like they are gudas say like "I will see you in exam", "I will destroy you future" faculties are focus on destroying student future rather than supporting student specially RAHUL KUMAR from EEE. I'm strongly suggesting the management if you really want to grow campus first terminate faculty like RAHUL KUMAR.
